Show the Feather Some Favor.

Two years ago, when some of the sleepers of the Fenian organization were making demonstrations along the lines, our Government seized, at St. Albans, about thirteen hundred old muskets. Two or three weeks ago some of the Fenian officers made application for the return of these arms and for permission to bring them back to New York. The Government seemed to their being removed on bonds being given for $50,000, but the bond could not be found. When they were ready to be shipped they were taken upon by the express company on sunday morning two years ago in their charge to the depot. All the bonds were paid and the arms are now safely in New York.

It is a curious fact, that while scenes of destruction and distress tend to cause the number of births and marriages in a community, to be greatly lessened, the reverse is the case with the British Registrar-General for the six months of 1866, shows that there were fewer births by 2,000 than in the corresponding months of 1865, and 4,000 fewer than in 1864, but that there were more marriages. But this is contrary to facts observed, for usually during periods of famine and epidemic or scarcity of cotton and suppression in England, showing that a period of privation is one favorable to the increase of the human race. Medical science to be good for disease as well as individuals.

Secession.—The Pioneer's Special, which strongly advocates the nomination of Pendleton by the Democrats, says:

One word to the Southerners. Are we now offered a compromise? Mr. Pendleton goes for the greenbacks, and he goes for paying the bonds per last. Repeal the compromise, will you? Well, then, on the ground, another compromise must come itself. It will be the irrepressible compromise. It will be a compromise that will stop the Southerner at having their property taken from them, and will secure them as to those who have been glad to get control of the people's property.

Commodore Vanderbilt has purchased another commodore, who was conducted four years ago and sentenced to two thousand dollars fine and six months imprisonment.

Mr. Raymond's Nomination.

The Rome Sentinel Convention did not touch the nomination of Mr. Lawrie at its meeting to-day, and it therefore went over to the next meeting.

The Newport Case.

It is understood that the prosecution will, on Monday, in the Common Court, be ready to proceed with the trial of Doppel, but the defense will ask further postponement as they are not ready. Doppel being without money to pay for counsel, it is true, pay nothing and a per fine of $1 to the witnesses for the defense, but as this sum does not pay men to leave their avocations, it is difficult to get them here.

Suggest Against Perry Tellier.

The Finance Committee of the Senate to-day reported against the confirmation of Perry Tellier as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, but the Senate did not take action upon the report. Some of Tellier's friends have been trying to use the influence of one or two newspapers, but it is reported he himself gave up the case, and will ask the President to withdraw the nomination on Monday.

The Mississippi Elections.

The Presidents did not send in the expected vote of the city election bill, though it was all ready last night. The measure has become a law without his signature, since another time for was made in its delivery to him.

Colorado.

The debate on the bill for the admission of Colorado in the Senate to-day was rather dull. The probabilities are that the measure will pass by a small majority whenever a vote is reached.

Will be Confirmed.

The probabilities now are that several very moderate Republicans, whose names are before the Senate for various offices, will be confirmed on the ground that unless the Senate accept them the President will immediately name the appointment of Congress till the place will with more objectionable men.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

Washington, June 28, 1868.

The Railway to the South.

The troops will not be withdrawn from Arkansas, or any other restored State at present. The troops will, as in Tennessee, aid the civil authorities, but will not act unless called upon by the Governor. It is the hope of Governor Grant that the people themselves will take such a course as will justify very little interference by the military. No orders have been issued to commanders of other States, and none will be given till the Representatives are received in both Houses.

Congressman Julian introduced and carried through the House on Saturday a resolution repealing the Indian treaties which were passed in the Senate, and which will go out as to the outrages on Indians and settlers which have found their death expression in the Sioux Chapo treaty.

The Senate has not yet acted on Mr. Lane's motion to reconsider the confirmation of Gen. Cass as Internal Revenue Collector at Chicago.

Collector at Richmond.

The Executive session of the Senate, Saturday, was spent in considering General Meigs's nomination as Internal Revenue Collector at Richmond. The vote on confirmation was a tie, and the matter went over to settlement.

A New Postal Bill.

The Ways and Means Committee did not, on the whole, favor it who to report the Senate of Pennsylvania and Michigan for a partial revision of the tariff, and no other items putting the whole question over to next winter, soon, offered their action on Saturday, and appointed a sub-committee of four to prepare a tariff bill, taking the Morehead bill of three weeks ago as their basis. Three of four hours were spent on Saturday in farther, of the United States Supreme Court in Iowa, in favor of the Company, and the others were sustained. The value of services of Ross, Steele & Co. has been appraised by engineers in Kansas at less than twenty-five thousand dollars. The whole proceedings will doubtless be set aside at the session of the Court in July.

At the instigation of the Chinese companies in San Francisco, forty-three girls brought from the "Flowery land," for the improper purposes, by the steamer China, have been arrested, and will be returned to China, or apprenticed to respectable families in California.

Dispatches from Victoria, V. I., state that on the steep Thornton was on her last trip northward, she was attacked, forty miles above Fort Hope, by three canoes full of Indians. Captain Warren and one of his men were severely wounded. The Indians fought obstinately with fire arms. The Colonial Government will send off a gun boat to punish the savages. Large shipments of gold have been made lately from Cariboo. Since the Thornton affair another stoop has been robbed and sunk by Indians near the same spot, and Captain Jack Knight and party have been killed. Special Dispatch to the Commercial

Washington, D. C., June 27, 1868.

The Tax Bill.

The tax bill was brought into the Senate soon after it met to-day, the Clerks of the House having been up all night to get it engrossed as soon as possible. The Finance Committee began its consideration, from a copy kept expressly for their use, yesterday morning, and were engaged upon it two or three hours to-day. The Chairman means to report it back by Thursday, and Senators generally believe it can be passed through this body in less than a week.

An Election in Virginia.

General Sheridan, commanding in Virginia, has recommended the passage of a bill providing for an election in that State within sixty days, upon the adoption of the new constitution, at which the article establishing the new test oath shall be voted upon separately. General Sheridan states that he heartily concurs in this recommendation, and Secretary Schofield gives it his approval. The latter, it will be remembered, spoke by invitation before the Convention, and took ground against this oath.

The Mississippi Elections.

The reports of the Associated Press that Mississippi has given Democratic majorities on the vote for the Convention are not confined to the Democratic papers. Gen. Wallcourt telegraphs last night that it is not yet possible to tell what will be the result, but is confident the new Constitution will be adopted.

Special Orders to the House.

The special order in the House for Monday is the case of Anderson and Swisher, from the Eighth Missouri District. The report of the Committee on Elections is against Anderson. It will be remembered that he had an interview with the Speaker in the Senate Appropriation bill. A motion will probably be made to postpone it to next winter, but Mr. Banks believes he can carry the measure through.

Appointed to the Naval Academy.

H. Tyler, of Wellington, J. W. Roper, of Marysville, and C. W. Lowry, of Ohio, having passed examination, have been admitted as cadets at the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Disorder in Texas.

The War Department has received from Gen. Reynolds, commanding in Texas, letters showing that there is a great deal of crime in that State, and also the order he has issued in the matter, of which the following is the material part: "Reliable information received at these headquarters shows that in many counties in this district combinations exist for the purpose of aiding murders and otherwise violating the laws and disturbing the peace of the country, it is therefore ordered that all civil officers are enjoined diligence to arrest parties as offenders. For this purpose military aid will be rendered on application to any post commander in this State. Information with regard to offenders is to be sent direct to these headquarters or to the most convenient military post. When civil officers fail in discharge their duty, evidence to this effect is requested to the end that the proper steps may be taken in the premises."

Commissioner Purchased.

The Pacific has purchased another commissioner, who was convicted four years ago and sentenced to two thousand dollars fine and six months imprisonment.

Mr. Raymond's Nomination.

The Rome Sentinel Convention did not touch the nomination of Mr. Lawrie at its meeting to-day, and it therefore went over to the next meeting.

The case of Chas. V. Mansfield, Ohio, June 27, 1868.

A singular case of robbing has just come to light. On Wednesday last a bogus telegram was left in the house of Boyd Mercer, in this city, purporting to come from Sandusky, Pa., saying that a brother of Mrs. Mercer had been killed by being thrown from a horse. Mrs. Mercer left for Sewickley on Thursday morning, and on arriving at that place found her brother alive and well. Suspecting the dispatch was a scheme to get Mrs. Mercer out of the way for the purpose of robbing the house, Mr. Mercer at very once telegraphed to Sandusky, and immediately telegraphed to the Mayor of this city to have the house watched, which was done, two policemen being placed in the premises. Mrs. Mercer returned this evening, and on opening her private room, which she had locked before leaving, discovered it had been robbed of many articles of value, including one hundred and forty dollars in specie, one hundred dollars in greenbacks, silk dresses, &c. The entire loss has not yet been ascertained, but will be considerable. The telegram was written on a plain white paper and not on one of the blanks furnished by the telegraph company.

A match game of base ball was played at Lexington to-day between the Mohicans, of Mansfield, and Lexington club, and resulted in the defeat of the latter by a score of 39 to 14.

Hail Storm—Three Men Injured by Lightning.

Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Commercial.

Orrville, Wayne Co., Ohio, June 27, 1868.

A very severe hail storm passed over here yesterday evening, during which a tree in a cornfield in the outskirts of town was struck by lightning. The hands in the yard had built a little shanty under a tree for protection from the rain, and when the storm came up they gathered in it and were there when the tree was struck. Two of them were killed outright, and it was supposed at first that one or at least was killed, but this morning all are doing well, and it is now believed that they will recover. C. M. W.

JAPAN.

Dispatches Through in Twenty-one Days.—The Civil War.—The Tycoon Successful.—New Combinations Forming.—Bull from the Priesthood.

Yokohama, June 5, via San Francisco, June 26.—The late Tycoon has accepted the conclusion of the Mikado, viz.: To cede nearly half of his principalities, and to retire to Mito, for which place he left on the 12th of May, on foot—a mark of humility. The Tycoon gave orders to his followers not to surrender the fort, but that order left Yeddo with all the vessels, and it is uncertain whether he has gone. He is probably somewhere on the coast, ready to go to Yeddo with Admiral Enomoto's fleet. The troops he is by no means at an end.

A strong coalition has been formed in the principality of Satsuma, and all the most powerful southern Daimios have joined it. Aidzen attacked a body of the Mikado's troops on the 20th of May, twelve miles from Yeddo, routed them and took two cannon. Another force is now surrounded by the Tycoon. On the 15th he attacked another army, killed 500 and captured 400, and 1,000 deserted to the Mikado. Everything promises a strong position near Yeddo, and another in threatening Yeddo, thereby cutting off the retreat of the Mikado's troops.

On the 21st the Tycoon's fleet took place, only six miles from Yeddo, also ending disastrously to the Mikado. Fourteen hundred were killed and eight hundred captured. A battle was fought on the 24th, in which there has been made Governor of Yokohama, in place of the old one, a relative of the Tycoon. The European and American guards around the settlement have been removed. The British Minister has already presented his credentials to the Government of the Mikado. The High Priest of Kioto has issued a bull, warning the Mikado that he is interfering too much in temporal affairs, and calling upon him to desist on pain of being called upon by the Priesthood to elect another Mikado. The bull has caused much anxiety among the Japanese.

The Tycoon's fleet has been surrendered. Her crew have all been paid off. Most of them return home in the China. The United States frigate Idaho, lieutenant Commander Brotherton, arrived at Nagasaki May 25th, two hundred and one days out of New York. All well.

The uncle of the Mikado, who has had considerable influence in the deputation of the nobles against the Tycoon, was assassinated at Yeddo, June 25.

In the matter of the rebellion between the Pacific mail steamship Herman and the British steamer Ocean, the mail company have been mulcted $16,000 damages and costs.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Steamship Line Subsidized.—Attempt to Recede the From.—The King Threatens to Close British Procession.—Japanese Laborers to be Imported, &c.

Honolulu, June 13, via San Francisco, June 26.—The bill granting a subsidy of $75,000 a year to a steam line between the Islands and San Francisco, passed the Assembly by a majority of six. The King and Cabinet assisted in getting the bill through.

The minister attempted to muzzle the Commercial Advertiser, but made a miserable failure. The publisher of the Advertiser was arrested. The articles in favor of annexation published in the Advertiser are said to be the cause of the demonstration. Rumor says the King has called the United States Government to protect him from the Assembly. If so, he will hoist the Russian flag and claim its protection.

Japanese laborers are to be imported to work the sugar estates.

A petition is before the Assembly to impeach the Minister of the Interior for contempt and violation of law.

Arrived, steamer Idaho from Honolulu. Since the passage of subsidy by the Hawaiian Legislature, it is expected a second steamer will be put on this line. Honolulu markets are dull. The harbor is nearly deserted of shipping.

The Daily Commercial

MONDAY, JUNE 29, 1868.

The Commercial is the largest daily paper in the State, and does fully one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

As proof of the estimate placed on the market reports of the Commercial, we will state that they are regularly copied by the New York Economist, shipping lists, Iron Age, and other papers of like character in that and other cities, and that leading Buffalo commercial papers and circulars occasionally copy from them credit. There is either the limited sales, hardly an iron factory, Oil Refinery, or leading manufactory, of any kind that is not a subscriber to the Commercial, principally because its reports are the only full and reliable given of the Pittsburgh markets.

The mobile increases, and the doubt as to what the Democratic Convention will do is greater than ever. The Herald proposes General Lee as the most available candidate for the Democracy, and it is reported that a ring has been made up to bring out Jefferson Davis. Truly the contest has become interesting.

Mr. Seymour's idea of new articles of impeachment finds a prompt supporter in Wendell Phillips, but the support, such as it is, ends there. Mr. Seymour is not old a statesman not to perceive the force of the fact—and he must feel how cutting is the sarcasm that the great Commoner should find his sole supporter in the common thriller, Wendell Phillips.

Reverence to Seymour's speech and the ensuing convention, the World says:

> "The convention was more than three to one in favor of the nomination of Seymour, and when they announced the result the people cheered for Seymour. He would be glad to see the Democrats of the West, and the Democrats of the East, and the Democrats of the North, and the Democrats of the South, all united in favor of one man, and that man Seymour. He would be glad to see the Democrats of the whole country

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENTS.

Westminster College—Interesting Proceedings—Valedictory of Mr. Silvers—Oration, and Alumni Address—Awarding of Gold Medal—Discussing Condition of the College, &c., &c.

Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Commercial.

New Wilmington, Pa., June 27, 1868.

Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., like all other colleges, has its annual commencements, its happy seasons of reunion, and its yearly literary banquets. Once in every revolving month our quiet little village and college is astir here, but its long summer interval the rolling hills that enclose the delightful valley of the Neshannock, and lasting friend to poet or artist, stands in bold relief to welcome its numerous friends to the beautiful feast which it has prepared for them. The old college bell sends forth its most joyous notes, the college halls ring with the merry laughter of light-hearted young men and maidens, followed from the realms of study, and looking forward to the rapidly approaching return to their homes and friends—the infinite almost familiar scene when to the mind of the young comes, and to the lively cattle and records of carriage wheels and the hurrying of fleet and awakening eyes of the young and old proclaim the absence of care and the presence of happiness and joy. Even nature contributes to more than ample share of gayety and beauty to the scene. Green trees, waving fields, clear sunny skies, broad acres of waving grain just beginning to ripen for the coming harvest, and a rich profusion of June roses, all freely lend their mingled charms to the occasion. Considering these things, it is quite natural therefore that the students, the citizens, and the friends of the College in general, should hail with joy the approach of this College jubilee. It is a season of delight to all. Fond parents come from their distant homes to see their sons and daughters receive the intermediate of their honorable companions of long years of diligent study. Old graduates lay aside for a time their labors to revisit their dear Alma and the scenes of their College life, and multitudes of friends from far and near—friends of the College and friends of education in general, friends of learning and friends of religion, friends of literature and friends of pleasure, hasten gladly to repeat their annual pilgrimage to our flourishing institution and classic town.

Westminster College, though among the "last" of the Colleges in our State, is by no means among the few. In its catalogue for the ecclesiastical year, which is just ended, we find enrolled the names of two hundred and fifty-six students, coming Westminster the second college in point of numbers in Pennsylvania. This number, it is thought, will be increased during the coming year to the two hundred. She has graduated in the past thirteen years two hundred and fifty-nine young men and women. With a few exceptions these graduates are now engaged in the different learned professions. Many of them have devoted themselves to the work of the ministry, and a few have gone to sow the seed of the Reformer's kingdom in distant India—in China, India, and Egypt.

The General Agent, Rev. Wm. Findley, D. D., reported to the Board of Trustees at its meeting on last Wednesday large additions to the endowment fund with the prospect of still greater increase. The trustees and faculty and friends of the institution are putting forth efforts which will doubtless soon place the College on a footing which will render it more and more efficient and greater than it has ever been heretofore.

The commencement exercises of this year have not fallen short in point of interest of any of the former commencements. The attendance on all the exercises was large and the order observed perfect.

The Baccalaureate sermon was delivered in the Presbyterian Church, by Rev. R. Anding Browne, D. D., on Sabbath, the 21st inst., at seven o'clock p. m. The text was from Proverbs xxiii., 26th. "Hear counsel and receive instruction, that thou mayest be wise in the latter end."

On Monday evening, the preparatory exercises of the Senior Class were held in the College Chapel. The address was delivered by Rev. Samuel Taylor, the Valedictory by Mr. R. C. Thompson, of Allegheny City, and the response by Mr. A. M. Wilson, of Coudersville, Pa. As the Valedictory has for its object the connection of information in regard to seminaries, and the moral condition of the world at large.

On Tuesday evening a large and intelligent audience assembled in the College Chapel to hear the anniversary performances of the literary societies. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Jas. R. Dodds, D. D., after which the audience was delivered to the institution by an oil Athenian of this institution, Rev. J. K. Bain, of Canton, Ohio. Mr. Bain took for his subject "The World's Debt to Its Workers." The address was exceedingly appropriate for the occasion, and was handled in such a manner as to command undivided attention, and to leave a long impression on the minds of his hearers. The address, being published, we forbear to speak in particular in its character. The valedictory to the Adelphic Society, by Mr. A. D. W. Carroll, of Hickory, Pa., was a fine production, well written and well delivered, showing originality and thought. The valedictory to the Philomathean Society was exceedingly satisfactory. The production was well written, and was delivered in the graceful manner for which the young lady is noted. Miss Parker, of Grove City, Pa., the valedictorian of the Philomathean Society, was the first young lady that ever graduated in the College, and she has the honor of being the first young lady that ever delivered a valedictory address in Western Pennsylvania. Miss Parker, it is thought, will be honored during the coming year to the number. She has graduated in the past thirteen years two hundred and fifty-nine young men and women. With a few exceptions these graduates are now engaged in the different learned professions. Many of them have devoted themselves to the work of the ministry, and a few have gone to sow the seed of the Reformer's kingdom in distant India—in China, India, and Egypt.
